"Thank you," the CJJ said while politely refusing to hear the case of Andhra Pradesh.

On August 2, CJJ Ramana had said: "I don't want to hear this matter legally. I belong to both the States. If the matter can be settled in mediation, please do that. We can help with that. Otherwise I will transfer this to another bench." The counsel for Andhra Pradesh had taken time till Wednesday for apprising the bench of the view of the State over the apex court's mediation offer.
